

You need it. We find it.

Most documents and business communications these days are electronic—they never even make it to paper. They're really just data, so if you're not using data-focused solutions, you're stuck in the dark ages with limited means of finding what you need. That's where H5 comes in. With our search expertise, proprietary tools and domain experience, we can quickly find what you need to support your case or refute theirs. All you have to do is ask.

H5 provides key document identification as a service, leveraging our expertise so you can leverage yours.

What you get:

-  Ease of use. Just tell us what you need to find. We find it.
-  Accuracy. Get exactly what you need and only what you need.
-  Flexibility. Change course as needed without costly re-review.
-  Speed. Fast & scalable regardless of document volume.
-  Value. Competitive pricing with more for the money.

Focus on the matter, not the tools.

Why should you be learning new software and workflows—and complex ones, at that? Let H5's experts find what you need with our advanced proprietary tools. There's no software for you to purchase and deploy.

Find critical evidence.

A review for production is one thing. Finding critical evidence is another. H5 has the expertise and custom technology your team needs, but doesn't have, to fully interrogate the data and find key evidence quickly. Like surgeons with scalpels, our experts use their tools to target what lies within the data, extracting what you need to support your case, all the way from deposition to trial.

Avoid surprises with early insights.

Early insight into the case narrative is crucial. H5's linguists know how to cull and organize data to zero in on what's important quickly, maximizing your investment and minimizing the risk of missing critical information.

Optimize results, reduce costs.

The right technology in the right hands helps cut to the chase, giving you what you need to gain that all-important edge. When you can find the critical information early in the matter and bypass irrelevant material, reduced risk and cost-savings are the logical result.

How H5 can help:

- › Fact-finding and chronology support for claims and defenses
- › Narrative development and trial preparation assistance
- › Issue identification, liability and damages-related analytics
- › Witness identification or vulnerabilities
- › Deposition kit and witness preparation support
- › On-the-fly search during deposition or trial
- › Identification of emotionally-charged communications or attempts to conceal information via sentiment analysis
- › Derive insight from the data population by any dimension through custom linguistic analyses

Could bad actors be using metaphors that keywords will never find? How would you even know?

› Metaphors Made the Difference

SITUATION: A law firm representing a software company in an antitrust suit was looking for evidence of anti-competitive behavior in the defendant's document production. When their own searches revealed nothing, they turned to H5 for assistance.

H5 linguists analyzed the incoming production looking for subtle manifestations of anticompetitive behavior, quickly discovering that such discussions were couched in sports metaphors (e.g. "We need to keep them on first base"). On further analysis, they discovered that another group discussed their firm's anticompetitive strategies as war metaphors (e.g. discussing the market as a "battleground" and their anticompetitive strategies as "blockades"). With these documents, counsel had the ammunition they needed to win a favorable settlement.

› Counsel Surprises Witness with Communications Linked by H5

SITUATION: Counsel for a large corporate plaintiff in a $1 billion IP dispute had to prepare for an upcoming deposition with a key adverse witness.

With input from the legal team, H5 identified non-obvious but contradicting information in the witness's email communications and linked the witness to instant messaging IDs, unearthing additional communications that would otherwise have been missed. H5's findings enabled counsel to surprise the witness at deposition and confirm their knowledge of key activities at issue in the matter.

› Recipe for Success

SITUATION: A law firm representing a Fortune 100 food company needed to review a large set of documents to search for potentially damaging or helpful material in the company's own documents.

In just 3 weeks, H5 was able to assist the case team in developing facts relating to scientific evidence regarding the health benefits of the client's product at issue, supporting witness depositions as well as an assessment of the price premium associated with the product in connection with potential damages.

› H5 Accelerates Success in Complex Patent Suit

SITUATION: In a $3.7 billion patent dispute between two giants, H5's client needed to find critical evidence among 3 million documents to support the needs of outside counsel in concurrent litigations in two federal courts and the ITC.

H5 identified key documents on issues of bribery and damages, located documents key to client and opposing depositions, identified pivotal events and incidents, created a timeline of product development by opponent, and used metadata analysis to identify engineering drawings and other characteristics of opponent's data.

H5's quick work enabled counsel to prepare for, take and defend depositions and conduct motion practice with very limited notice. H5's help with the creation and prioritization of deposition kits allowed counsel to quickly focus on what mattered in preparing executives for deposition. Counsel was able to surprise a key witness at deposition, confirming prior knowledge of key activities at issue in the matter. Bottom line: the client prevailed.

H5 provided the type of professional service and quick turnaround that a company can only dream about in a situation like this. They helped us find what we needed, faster than we ever could have—and the best part is that we didn't have to pay an arm and a leg to get the job done.
